Supplement to SSA-827 for Use in Cases of School-Age Children

To help determine whether the named child is disabled under the provisions of the Social Security Act, I voluntarily authorize all educational sources to disclose to the Social Security Administration (SSA) and its State agency, information, including education records, on the above named child. I understand that SSA or the State agency may provide this information to doctors or other professionals who do tests or examinations to help make the disability determination. This supplement permits disclosure from all educational sources (such as teachers, school records administrators, counselors) of:

1. Copies of educational tests and evaluations, including Individualized Educational Programs, triennial assessments, psychological or speech evaluations, and any other records that can help evaluate function; and

2. Teachers' observations and evaluations.

The conditions and protections cited on the SSA-827 also apply to this authorization. In addition, any educational information obtained with this authorization will not be redisclosed outside of SSA or the State agency without further consent (except to doctors or other professionals who do tests or examinations to help make the disability determination).
